By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States summoned Ambassador Philip W. Bonsal home from Havana today, less than two weeks after he returned to his post.

There were strong indications of official exasperation at indignities authorities feel America has suffered at the hands of Fidel Castro.

The big question remained: What can Washington try next to change the course of the bearded Cuban Premier without hurting its relations with the other psychologically sensitive Latin American states?

Diplomatically, Uncle Sam was in the unhappy shoes of the visitor being lifted in the shins by a small boy of the family while not daring to kick him in reprisal.

Bonsal was expected to arrive in the late afternoon. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said Thursday the career diplomat was being returned for "consultations." He had returned to Havana on Jan. 10 after a month of similar consultations.

The new move falls short of a break in relations with the Castro regime. But U.S. officials made plain they are in no hurry to send Bonsal back. The Havana embassy meanwhile will be tended by the No. 2 man there, Daniel M. Braddock.

The new low in U.S.-Cuban relations was struck Thursday when Castro went on a radio-TV broadcast. The Spanish ambassador became so outraged at Castro's allegations of criminal ties by his embassy that he stormed the broadcasting studio. Castro kicked him out of Cuba, and he too leaves there today.

U.S. authorities viewed Castro's attack on American Embassy activities as even more severe. He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, according to Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.), that Castro was "very insulting to the American ambassador, the American government and the American people."

American officials said the Cas-

Talks for Adoption of Amendment 51

By G. MILTON KELLY

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — "None of us are running our business with the methods of 1874, nor should we expect our city officials to be hamstrung by the outlook and the restrictions of 1874."

Little Rock businessman Raymond Rebsamen used that comparison here last night to urge adoption of proposed constitutional amendment No. 51, which would give cities and towns more control over their own affairs.

Rebsamen, president of Little Rock's Urban Progress Assn., addressed the annual meeting of the Crossett Chamber of Commerce.

The amendment to be voted on at the November general election would permit municipalities to remove the five-mill limit on general revenues to 10 mills and remove the 5,000 limitation on salaries for city officials.

Prosecution in Final Stages of Finch Trial

By PATRICK MCNULTY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The prosecution plowed into the final stages of its massive case in the Finch murder trial today following testimony by a hoodlum that he positively was hired to kill Barbara Jean Finch, not to seduce her.

The state contends Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his red-haired mistress Carole Tregoff paid Jack Cody to kill the tennis-playing surgeon's estranged wife — and that they did the job themselves when Cody failed to go through with the bargain.

The defense suggested Thursday that Cody was approached to get divorce evidence against Mrs. Finch and that Cody bragged he would get it if he had to sleep with the doctor's wife himself.

Cody, 29, bad check passer on leave from the Minneapolis work-house, heatedly denied this.

"I was hired to kill her, that's all," said Cody, who describes himself as a former dance hall bouncer, butcher, gambling hall shill and ladies' man.

Mrs. Finch, attractive 36-year-old brunette socialite, was shot to death July 18 outside the Finch estate in suburban West Covina. The state contends the crowd-control doctor and his attractive paramour killed Mrs. Finch so she could't win a large divorce settlement.

The prosecution also tried to show that Finch probably forged his wife's name to a $3,000 check two weeks ago — and that Finch quite probably was the one who signed his wife's name.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred Whitchello said the prosecution's case should be finished by early next week.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mike Gorman, executive director of the National Committee Against Mental Illness, urged the government today to slip down medicine manufacturers' accused of arrogant profiteering.

Testifying before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, Gorman proposed a five-point program, designed, he said, to give the nation's sick better drugs at lower prices and curb monopolistic practices. He contended there is a lot of "international bank-party" contributing to monopolistic power.

Gorman called for legislative or other action to:

1. Use federal license revocation powers to compel the industry to do a better job to the sick.
2. Arm the Food and Drug Administration with money and more authority to check on the clinical claims made by pharmaceutical houses for their various preparations. He said FDA has a "criminally inadequate budget" now.
3. Help the Federal Trade Commission tighten its policing of "excessive promotional practices of the drug industry."
4. Get the Justice Department to be more vigorous in ferreting out any illegal price fixing arrangements among companies, and controlling what he termed sleight-of-hand manipulation of patent rights.

In advance of today's session the investigators said they want to know why an American buyer has to pay $5.05 for a batch of tranquilizer pills that can be bought in Paris for 77 cents.

Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said he also wants more light shed on allegations that a dispute involving patent rights on newly developed medicines has been slowing the government's search for cancer cures.

Kefauver told the head of a Philadelphia firm Thursday its prices for tranquilizer drugs were "completely out of line." He said it is time to see whether something can be done about that.

Kefauver was addressing Walter A. Munns, president, and other officials of Smith-Kline & French. Munns insisted the firm's prices are reasonable.

The subcommittee staff had produced evidence which, it said, showed that druggists pay $3.03 for 50 tablets of the tranquilizer chlorpromazine produced by Munns' company under the name Thorazine. The tranquilizers then are sold to the public by the druggist, the staff said, at a price of $5.05 for 50 tablets.

The chart listed prices for 50 tablets of this drug, manufactured by a French firm, as 51 cents to the druggists of Paris, and 77 cents to the French patient. Canadian druggists pay $3.75 for 50 French-produced tablets of the medicine, the evidence showed, and retail them for $7.05 to the public.

Dr. Spears' Wife Reveals Another Ex-Convict Took His Place Aboard Ill-Fated Plane

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Robert Vernon Spears' young wife admitted Thursday night she met the ex-convict and naturist in Dallas two weeks ago — and that it was William Allen Taylor who died in a Nov. 18 airliner crash.

But she doesn't believe Spears placed a bomb aboard the plane which carried 42 persons to the deaths in the Gulf of Mexico, the 38-year-old woman said in a dramatic radio-television interview.

The interview with KRLD news director Eddie Barker came about 24 hours after the FBI found a partially 65-year-old husband in Phoenix, Ariz.

Here was her answer when she was asked if she believes Spears was a man with a 33-year criminal record — bombed the airliner: "Regardless of his past, regardless of what he has done or said, or what has been said about him, I know he is a very kind person to me, and to others."

I do not believe he was capable of putting a bomb on a plane."

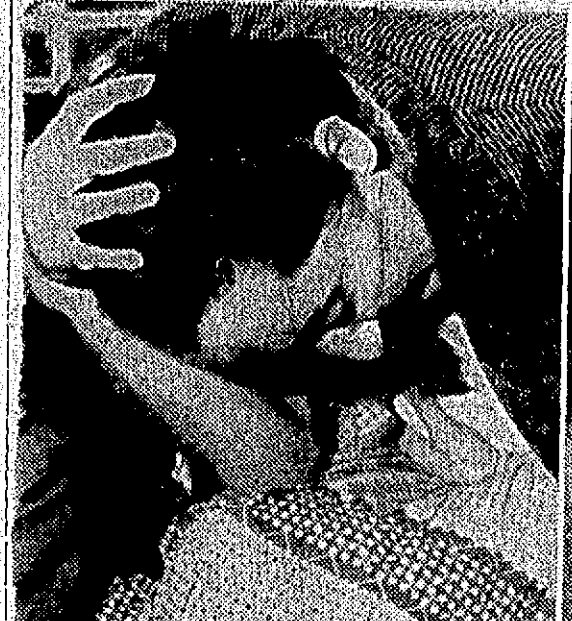

Spears told her of the deception during a secret visit to Dallas two weeks ago, she related. He hoped his young wife and two infant children would benefit from more than $100,000 in life insurance he carried.

"Did he mention Al (William Allen) Taylor?" she was asked. "Yes, he did," she replied evenly.

"What did he say?" "He (Spears) said that he (Taylor) was on the plane," she said. "He was sorry it had to happen to him."

"Did he indicate when the change of plans occurred for Al Taylor rather than Bob Spears to board the plane?" "Not any actual time as to when the change was made. No," she

Red Rocket Reportedly the Biggest

MOSCOW (AP) — A leading Soviet scientist said today the super-rocket fired into the Pacific Wednesday was the biggest the Soviets have launched and the forerunner of a heavy space satellite with equipment that can bring it back to earth.

Prof. V. Dobronravov said the test rocket's last two stages reached a speed of more than 26,000 kilometers an hour — better than 16,127 miles an hour.

The Soviet rocket that carried the satellite which photographed the moon last fall weighed about 3,323 pounds (without fuel) in the last stage. The satellite itself weighed only 614 pounds.

Sputnik III, launched on May 15, 1958, weighed 2,925 pounds. The United States sent a 1,700-pound satellite, Discoverer VIII, into orbit in November. Its maximum altitude is about 1,000 miles from the earth.

Dobronravov wrote in the Moscow Pravda, organ of the Moscow branch of the Communist Party, that this week's Soviet test firing shows "the final stage of the future larger space rockets will be able to develop not only the first astronomical speed of 11.2 kilometers (about 7 miles) per second but even a greater speed, sufficient for flights not only to the moon but to the planets of the solar system, too."

"The development of a heavy earth satellite may be useful for solving basic problems of space travel," he wrote. "The same holds true of the launching of heavier space rockets to the planets of the solar system."

He explained it will be possible to install "a space orientation system" for controlling the heavy earth and retro-rockets. The rockets would slow down at Sputnik when it enters dense atmosphere.

"Finally," he added, "a heavy Sputnik can carry a device for lifting its safe descent through all the atmosphere to the point of landing."

Holt to Run for Attorney General

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pulaski Prosecutor J. Frank Holt, runner-up as a potential candidate for attorney general, plans to announce soon whether he will ask for a promotion to higher office or return to private practice.

Holt said last night that he will not seek another term as prosecutor for Pulaski and Perry counties. He is in his third term.

Rumors have placed Holt as a candidate either to succeed Attorney Bruce Bennett, who has filed for governor, or to oppose Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) for Congress.

Four Children Perish in Fire

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Fire roared through a two-family frame house here yesterday, killing four small Negro children.

The bodies of the children were found in the ruins. All were burned beyond recognition.

Victims were four-month-old Betty Joyce Morris and Willie Charles George, 2, children of Beulah Dade; and Nancy Dade, nine months; and Freddie Dade, 11, children of Albert Dade and wife.

Beulah Dade was hanging out clothes in the back yard when the fire of unknown origin broke out. She is a sister of Albert Dade and was caring for the children while Dade and his wife were at work.

Weather Has Coldest Grip of Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the winter season's coldest spells held an icy grip across the eastern two thirds of the country today. A fresh surge of Arctic air from central Canada dispelled any hopes of immediate general relief.

Most of the southland shivered with other cold spots. The mercury dropped to below freezing along the Gulf Coast and into northwest Florida.

Miami was chilled with one of the coldest mornings of the season with a reading of 40 above. It was 27 at Tallahassee and 32 in Jacksonville. New Orleans and Atlanta each reported a frosty 27 and it was 29 in Mobile, Ala.

The coldest weather was in the northern plains as the new surge of cold Canadian air moved into the north central region.

Below zero readings were reported in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Temperatures moderated in Texas, with readings in the 40s along the Gulf Coast and toward the 50s Thursday.

Precipitation was confined mostly to northern and western sections of the country.

Snow flurries continued in mountain areas from Lake Superior southward into Kentucky and as far as the Appalachians and northernward into New England.

More rain fell along the Pacific Coast from Oregon southward and in Oregon and northern Nevada.

United Funds Distributed Total $6,100

First distribution of the Hempstead County United Fund was made today when $6,100 was allotted to various agencies to begin the new year, William Caldwell, president of the organization, announced.

The distribution went to:

Boy Scouts	$1400
Polio	1400
Red Cross	1300
Salvation Army	800
Cancer	475
Heart Disease	350
Underprivileged Children	150
Muscular Dystrophy	75
Multiple Sclerosis	75
Cerebral Palsy	75

Mr. Caldwell announced that further distributions would be made throughout the year as additional funds came into the treasury as some contributors were paying by the month, quarterly and semiannually.

To date the campaign fund totals $12,472.51 which represents both cash and pledges. The final clean-up drive is underway and will end Jan. 31 and those who have not contributed the United Way are urged to do so now.

Special Session Cost $14,995

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 61-hour special legislative session which ended yesterday apparently cost $14,995.

State Auditor Jimmie (Red) Jones said Senate expenses totaled 4,701 and House expenses were 10,243.

Jones said he thought the vouchers represented all expenses for the session but that others could be submitted.

Seven senators didn't take the $100 each the Senate voted to pay its members in addition to regular expenses and four others donated their checks to a State Hospital fund drive. Ten of the 97 representatives did not take the 20-a-day extra expenses voted by the House Efficiency Committee.

Rockefeller May Leave Commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that if newsmen wanted to speculate that he would reappoint Winthrop Rockefeller as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission they "probably will be right."

This development at the governor's news conference apparently resolved the issue of Rockefeller's future on the industry-seeking agency, provided he wants to stay.

Rockefeller's term ran out Jan. 14 and Faubus declined yesterday to give a flat "yes or no" reply to a question about whether he intended to reappoint the Morrilton millionaire.

Faubus said today that Rockefeller is out of the country on a vacation and he has not been able to confer with him.

"I will talk to him when he gets back," the governor said.

A newsmen asked if that meant he considered a reappointment. "No, don't take it to mean anything," Faubus replied.

He added quickly, "Oh, if you want to speculate that he will be reappointed if he wants it, you probably will be right."

Rockefeller has been chairman of the AIDC, under a Faubus appointment, since the agency was created in 1955.

Expiration of Rockefeller's appointment first was revealed in a House resolution which Saline (Rep. Virgil Fletcher tried to introduce yesterday as a tribute to Rockefeller's service on the AIDC. Parliamentarian Neill Bohlinger ruled it could not legally be considered because it did not come within the purview of Faubus' special session call.

It was Rockefeller who asked Faubus to call the special session to enact new industrial financing laws.

ICC Denies Rail Increase Request

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Commerce Commission today denied railroads operating in the state a requested 2 1/2 per cent increase in intrastate freight rates.

The commission said a 12 per cent rate increase it granted previously had not been in force long enough to determine its effect.

Railroads had asked for upward adjustment of Arkansas rates to conform to an Interstate Commerce Commission boost authorized in September, 1958.

The railroads estimated the new increase under the latest request would have amounted to $241,000 a year, based on the 1955 volume of traffic. In its order denying the request, the Commerce Commission said the volume that year was not a reliable standard for measuring current rail revenue needs.

Over 400 Miners Are Trapped in South Africa

COALBROOK, South Africa (AP) — Rescue teams worked frantically dividing hopes tonight (Friday) that 400 men trapped deep in a coal mine.

The miners were trapped Thursday by two rock slides at the Clydesdale Colliery, 35 miles north of Johannesburg.

Loss of 400 men would make this the worst worst mining disaster in history. There was no loss of 1,540 men at Henkel Colliery in Manchuria in 1942.

A report by a mine official that rescuers had made contact with some of the trapped men stirred hope momentarily today, but the contact was denied later by the Department of Mines.

Cannaries were carried into the Clydesdale shafts by rescue teams to test the air, because they are more susceptible to gas than human beings.

The Mines Department said there was no evidence of a gas explosion. A fresh air base can now be established not far from the rock barrier and efforts to reach the trapped men are being carried out from this area, the department said.

Originally 500 African Negroes and 6 white men were believed entombed. But the Department of Mines and mining officials agreed late today on a new estimate — about 400.

Mixed rescue teams of whites and Negroes worked side-by-side to get an emergency supply of air to the men. But 20 hours after the miners were trapped the rescuers still had not reached them.

"It's sheer hell down there," said one rescue worker who emerged from the pit after digging through the night.

Another said that the chances of getting any out seemed hopeless.

The disaster could be the worst in postwar mining history. The worst mining disaster recorded was the loss of 1,549 men on April 26, 1914, at Henkel Colliery in Manchuria.

An explosion damaged the mine's shaft ventilator and cut off the air supply for a time but it was restored this afternoon.

There was fear of a spread of deadly methane gas.

The mine is operated by Clydesdale (Transvaal) Collieries Ltd., a firm with mining interests in the Orange Free State and the Transvaal.

First warning of impending disaster came Thursday afternoon when the earth began splitting on the surface near the Clydesdale mine.

Relatives and friends of the trapped workers rushed to the pithead as soon as they received news of the rock fall. They stood in hushed groups as the rescuers prepared to go down into the mine.

Youth Killed by a Truck at Lepanto

LEPANTO, Ark. (AP) — An eight-year-old boy was killed by a truck near here yesterday as he started across Highway 140 to check a mail box.

He was Carl Wayne Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie J. Allen. He had gotten off a school bus and walked across the road safely before turning back to the mail box.

A truck driver, Jimmy Davis of near Lepanto, told state troopers he had stopped and watched children from the bus cross the highway. Davis said the boy dashed in front of the truck as he started up.

Drew to Lose $9,177 in Aid From State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A total of $9,177 in state aid will be withheld from four Drew County school districts under the assessment equalization laws, the state educational Department said yesterday.

The Department also will withhold $4,607 from the Drew County School Board.

Aid is being withheld because Drew County assessments failed to reach the 18 per cent level by Dec. 31 as required by the equalization law.

Districts and amounts to be withheld are: Monticello $3,066; Wilmar $1,728; Selma $1,341; and Defha-Drew 746.

Two Endorse Educational Proposals

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two educationists have endorsed a proposal to create a new state school system. But they added it will take more than that to solve all school problems.

Dr. Shin M. Lambert, National Education Assn. research director, and Forrest Rozzell, Arkansas Education Assn. executive secretary, approved of a measure for federal aid.

The bill now calls for 600 million dollars to the states for school construction, but a proposed amendment would boost this to one billion dollars and allow the money to be used for either construction or operating expenses.

They spoke yesterday at a meeting of the Arkansas School Board Assn. Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who also spoke, approved of federal school aid if it came without federal control. He repeated a stand against federal interference in state and local affairs.

Rozzell said the question is longer is whether there will be federal education aid, but "the only question is: What form will it come in."

The present bill, without amendment, would do a "fundamental disservice to Arkansas" by requiring the state to match one million dollars in aid with one million dollars in state money. It would be limited to buildings.

What's more needed in Arkansas, Rozzell said, is increased teacher pay. He said it would cost 24 million dollars to raise salaries of Arkansas teachers to the national average.

Dr. Lambert painted a gloomy picture of school finance in the next decade for Arkansas and some midwestern states. He said teacher salaries would have to be raised at least 50 per cent to compete with industry for talented people and he indicated the revenue sources will be needed because properly taxes are high now.

Arkansas, with an average salary for teachers of $4,300, is going to be harder hit than some other states, he said.

He added that Arkansas already spends more in relation to its ability than most states. State and local taxes are $8.80 per $100 of earned income compared to $8.30 for a national average.

Delaware ranks last among the 50 states in the value of its mineral production.

answered. Her account was made public here about the same time an AWTZ (friend of Spears, Dr. William A. Turska, told in Phoenix of finding a case of dynamite cached near a desert cabin where he had Spears after the crash.

Mrs. Spears denied that her husband planted a bomb in the National Airlines-operated plane or had anything to do with the crash.

Turska, freed after six hours of questioning by the FBI in Phoenix Thursday, said he understood investigators found dynamite fused in Spears' luggage. An FBI spokesman declined comment.

Both the Civil Aeronautics Board and a Senate Aviation subcommittee have been trying to determine whether bombs crashed the Nov. 18 crash and that of another National Airlines plane Jan. 6 near Bolivia, N.C.

Mrs. Spears first gave her account in an exclusive interview which Eddie Barker, news director of Dallas stations KRLD and KRLD-TV, transcribed at her two-story brick home in East Dallas. She elaborated a bill in talking with a reporter after the broadcast.

"I first knew about Dr. Spears' being alive on Jan. 7 when Dr. Turska rang my door bell, and handed me a letter from Dr. Spears in his handwriting," she said. Previously she had said the date was Jan. 8.

"At first I thought it was a trick. But I had to know. I went with Dr. Turska to the Lakewood Hotel the night of Jan. 7 and it was quite an emotional meeting—for I thought Dr. Spears was dead, and there he stood in front of me."

How Spears induced Taylor to board the airliner in his place at Tampa was not clear.

In Tampa, Taylor's ex-wife Alice said—as she had earlier—that her former husband "was undoubtedly influenced by Dr. Spears and betrayed." Expressing great shock at Mrs. Spears' statements, Mrs. Taylor added: "I honest against all odds something would turn up and that Mr. Taylor wasn't on that plane, although I felt all alone he was on the plane because I had not heard from him."

A 37,500 policy of Taylor's life, issued from a vending machine at Tampa's International Airport reached Mrs. Taylor by mail two days after the crash. It showed Taylor, making a round trip flight to Dallas, obtained the policy only 13 minutes before the airliner took off.

FBI men questioned Mrs. Spears and searched her home prior to Thursday night's broadcast. They declined to say what was found. There was an unofficial report the agents paid special attention to 24 volumes on hypnosis in the Spears house.

Mrs. Taylor had voiced a belief in hypnosis earlier that her ex-husband must have been hypnotized to agree to board the airliner.

A Dallas lawyer for the Spears family, Charles W. Tressmer, told reporters he believed "hypnosis was involved" in the case. Mrs. Spears said she asked her husband two weeks ago "why it had happened and what had happened."

"He said he drove Al's car so Al (Taylor) could fly here to have his injured neck repaired," she recounted. "He said he read about the crash of the plane and he saw an opportunity to leave me and the babies with some financial security."

"He felt he had been a burden, and it was a chance to free us of that burden."

Mrs. Spears, a thin and rather tall former secretary, and her husband have two children—10-month-old Robin Deborah and 2-year-old Robert Kenneth.

Why did Taylor take the plane from Tampa in place of Spears? "He said that Al's wife was giving him a rough time," Mrs. Spears said, "and he wanted to get away from her and see about his neck injury."

Al, another point Mrs. Spears related: "He told me Al was on the plane, but he didn't say whether he saw him get on. I asked him if anything had been done to the plane and he said 'no.'"

2. Attacks on Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who recently said in Florida that the Castro regime is not creating an attractive climate for U.S. investment in Cuba.

3. Attacks on Bongo, who has been applauded in public appearances in Havana by Cubans who don't share Castro's view.

4. Absence of any diplomatic reply to a U.S. note of Jan. 11 protesting what Washington said was illegal seizure of U.S. property in Cuba.

One possibility was issuance of a strongly-worded statement. This might come from Herter, from the department or from Roy R. Cullom, assistant secretary for inter-American affairs, in one of the speeches he is scheduled to make around the country.

Cuba, in violation of Cuba's own laws. A Castro newspaper, thumbed its nose at the U.S. protest in its columns.

What course remained open to the United States was a problem under intense study at the State Department. Officials were anxious to maintain American dignity, without waving a big stick which would antagonize Latin neighbors.

sends forth a whole bevy of talent, including sensational rookie Will Chamberlain, as the East and West clash in the 10th Annual All-Star game.

The East is a slight favorite because of the 7-1 Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors and veteran Bob Cousy of the world champion Boston Celtics.

Chamberlain leads the NBA in scoring 1,607 points—37 plus average and rebounding and shows promise of smashing virtually all records. Cousy, who has been selected for every game since his All-American days at Holy Cross, holds the most over-all records of the classic (7), including most points scored (122) and most assists (80).

There will be no national television coverage of the game, which is being played in Philadelphia's Convention Hall for the first time. Officials expect a capacity crowd of some 18,000.

The West won 124-108 at Detroit last year but the East holds a 6-3 edge in the series.

Lake Crosson: Rainbow Trout fair on worms below dam. No other reports.

Two Hope Teams Play Tonight at Saratoga

Spring Hill, Lockesburg Genoa Central, Guernsey, Hope, Bleivins advanced yesterday and last night in the Saratoga Invitational tournament.

In the opening game Thursday Genoa Central downed the Foreman girls 33 to 25 with Prazier making 14 points. Foreman's Crawford made 16.

Spring Hill boys fought hard all the way to edge Genoa Central 61 to 58. Kidd made 16, R. Garner 12 and L. Garner 10 for the winners while Genoa's Brewer made 23.

In the afternoon session Lockesburg boys downed Garland 50 to 40 with Trustley leading in 13 and Thomas making 12 for the losers. Guernsey girls, with Jo Mosier tossing in 25 points, edged Lockesburg 35 to 34 in a very close contest. Bristow made 6 for Guernsey; Harrison with 11 and Stanford with 10 were high for the losers.

Hope's B boys started strong and finished the same way for a 43-23 victory over Chidester. Powell made 13, Fry 10 and Roberts 6 for Hope. Bacon made 9 to lead Chidester.

Bleivins girls downed the Spring Hill girls 48 to 35, mainly behind the 33 point shooting of Stone. Bleivins' Parks made 12 and Jost 10. A high for Spring Hill was Galloway with 24. Harvell 6 and Collins 5.

LIKE A SNOWBALL

Six Arkansans Placed in the Hall of Fame

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The sports faithful gathered 600 strong last night to usher six fellow Arkansans into the state's Hall of Fame.

The crowd included Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, as well as the University of Arkansas coaching staff and numerous small boys who stayed close to their fathers and peered wide-eyed at the six framed pictures above the rostrum.

The six men and those who introduced or represented them were eloquent and enthusiastic, and the comments were both hilarious and touching.

The crowd roared when great pro football and Jim Benton talked about "that Old Redbug spirit" at Fordyce High School, and they stood respectfully as emcee Joe Garagiola introduced the wife of deceased Hall of Fame nominee, Jimmy Haygood.

"I watched her tonight," Garagiola said. "And she was in the garden again."

"And Travis Jackson was again a New York Giant."

"And Don Hutson was again a great football player."

It was a big night. Garagiola was at his best. The St. Louis Cardinal broadcaster kidded Gov. Faubus about his amendment to the egg-grading law and made a point of introducing Faubus to Bennett, who has said he will run for governor this summer.

John Barnhill, who was described as the architect of the University of Arkansas athletic program, said before the banquet he was thinking of a game in which he played guard for Tennessee against Vanderbilt in 1927.

"I threw the brick that led Dick Dodson score the tying touchdown," he said. "We tied them 7-7. I guess that was my greatest thrill."

"Greatness is always accompanied by humility," Garagiola said pointedly.

One of the most well-received Hall of Fame entrants was Steve Creekmore, the impish 70-year-old Fort Smith golfer who 17 omelets ago shot a par 70 on Fort Smith municipal course.

Said Creekmore: "I'll never forget a golf tournament I was playing . . . my boy Steve Jr. was 12 and he was caddy for me. It was the 16th hole and we were tied and I sliced in the rough. I remember telling him 'Son, if I don't make this shot and we lose this tournament, I don't want you to cry.'"

He made the shot—a miracle one—and putted out 20 feet to win the tournament.

Creekmore won lots of his fame tournaments but much of his fame came in the great Arkansas Razorback year of 1909 when he quarterbacked the Hogs to their only unbeaten season.

Thursday night the Bleivins boys led by Hicks with 24, walloped Rodcaw 55 to 33. Ross made 9 and Steed 12. Rodcaw's Daniels tossed in 11. Miller 8 and Log 6.

Friday morning Bleivins girls eliminated the Guernsey girls 42 to 31. Parks tossed in 25 for Bleivins and Stone 16. Mosier made 15 and Bristow 15 for the losers.

Also Friday morning Willisville eliminated Genoa Central by a 34 to 22 score.

7 Hit Double Figures in Basketball Game

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Seven men hit in double figures as Arkansas Tech breezed to a 110-65 basketball triumph over Southern Baptist College here last night.

Don Vance, with 24 points, led Tech scoring. Ed Street had 15 points to lead Southern Baptist.

Tech led 54-29 at the half.

Robinson, Pender
Battle Is Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, gunning for an early knockout, is heavily favored to defeat stylist Paul Pender tonight in defense of his disputed world middleweight boxing crown.

The stakes: For the winner, prestige and at least one more big money bout. For the loser, the end of the fisty trail in sight.

The 15-year-old at Boston Garden will be televised and broadcast nationally (10 p.m. Eastern standard time, NBC) with a radius of 100 miles around Boston blacked out.

Robinson, listed as 39 years old but claiming 38, is recognized as the titleholder only in Massachusetts and New York. The National Boxing Assn. stripped him of his crown for not defending within a time limit and recognized Gene Fullmer as champion.

Pender, 29-year-old suburban fireman who has quit boxing three times believes his hit-and-move style backed by a solid punch will enable him to run Robinson into exhaustion.

The odds have gone out of sight on Pender's chance of succeeding.

4th Term Question
Crops Up Again

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Will Gov. Orval E. Faubus seek an unprecedented fourth term?

The question brought a reply yesterday from Faubus that he would "talk with the boys up the creek" after returning from a $100-a-day Democratic Party dinner in Washington tomorrow night.

Faubus said he would decide then about his candidacy.

Bible Comment

NONPROFESSIONAL RELIGION
By WILLAM E. GLROY, D.D.

To one who has observed the movements of religion over the years, think an important aspect, perhaps the outstanding one, is the extent to which religion, especially church christianity, has become professionalized.

A generation or so ago the parish minister and the preacher seemed to be the central and most important figures, and, perhaps, the most influential. But for some time now centralization has taken a different course. Denominational headquarters have become the dominant centers, with parish ministers tending to become representatives more distinctly of the whole denominational outlook and power.

Outstanding and eminent preachers still awaken great interest, and preaching is an inherent function of the Christian ministry that will always have profound influence and power.

But in general the pulpit and preaching seem to have taken a very secondary place.

I still hold strongly to the belief that worshipful preaching is a profoundly influential factor in Christianity, perhaps of all the most powerful. But I am forced to recognize that the disparagement has increased rather than lessened.

Church leaders for the most part are looking more to formal and organizational influence. The influence of preachers like Billy Graham is exceptional rather than typical.

The trend is all part of what might be called a "professionalization" of religion.

The ordained ministry has always been in a sense a profession, though I think a little different from other professions, where the ambitious concept of a career are in influential consideration. In the Christian ministry, in its finest aspects, the dominant motives are of devotion and service.

When I was a student in Toronto University I used to see among the students from the school of science across the campus a man whom I later knew as Dean Owen of Christ Church Cathedral, in Hamilton, and who later became Anglican Primate of all Canada.

I have often wondered what Tuesday

Archery Group Organizes Here

SOME 26 PERSONS MET FOR A CHILI SUPPER LAST night at the WOW Hall and officially organized an Archery Club. Faye James was named president; Dick Hoggard, vice-president and Charles Gough, secretary-treasurer. The group will send representatives to the state meet at Pine Bluff Sunday. The organization is open to men and women as well as Junior groups. Top photo shows the entire group at last night's meet and the bottom photo shows a bow being tested.

Willisville to Semi-finals

THE WILLISVILLE SENIOR GIRLS, REGARDED BY MANY as one of the favorites of the tourney along with Emmet, Saratoga and Ebelevs, downed Geona Central this morning 34 to 22. It was a tough battle with the half ending 11 to 9, Willisville.

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

THE STORY: Although Madam Cissie Janeway has retained Orrin Applegate to be her lawyer, Orrin has had doubts about her and her sinister butler Oscar, he is further perplexed because Lord Sie Fox, his young neighbor, has seemed to fall under her charm.

CHAPTER XI

The presence of the patent-medicine show in town did not cut into the receipts of Stubby Newell, for the medicine show was free and attracted mostly local people and canawlers, while the audience for the Cardiff Giant were mostly excursionists. Lottie and I, when time hung heavily, used to stroll down to the field where the troupe had established itself and watch the performance. Almost every time we saw Oscar, Madam Janeway's butler, lurking on the edge of the crowd, making himself inconspicuous, but always watching with a curiously avid expression upon his cadaverous face.

"As if," Lottie said with puckered brow, "he were an addict and couldn't help himself." Fond as she seemed to be of turned the student of engineering into the churchman, but I am sure that it was some deeply religious urge, not the idea of a career.

I think that any student of government in recent decades would say that the chief aspect has been the immense development of officialdom and bureaucracy, the enormous paperwork, and all its familiar accompaniments. Perhaps it is an inevitable outcome of "progress," but from a religious standpoint the impressive thing is that it is precisely what is happening to the churches.

My name apparently is on a number of church and denominational mailing lists and the amount of printed, typewritten, and carbon paperwork that the mail brings suggests the immensity of the bureaucracy of officials, secretaries, and typists. How much has it all to do with the real progress of the Kingdom of God? Only careful study and scrutiny could determine the answer, and forestalls criticism. Perhaps it is all to the good. But I have a sense, also, of the variety and immensity of the religious life that goes on, quite apart from and unrelated to this church bureaucracy.

Madam, and often as she was in Madam's house, she could not get used to Oscar. "He makes chills run up and down my spine," she said.

Now Lottie isn't a busybody and she doesn't poke and pry into other people's affairs. But she did take to studying Oscar and watching his movements with a sort of childlike curiosity. And so I came about that on an afternoon—I think it was a Thursday—she mixed me up in the matter.

Madam Janeway was away in Birmingham, whether she had gone alone, I came home from the office a bit early to find Lottie waiting for me in the hammock between our two houses. She jumped up at sight of me and was mysterious and excited.

"You come along with me, Orrin," she commanded. I held back. "What trouble are you trying to get me into now?" I demanded.

"All right," she said, "then I'll go by myself." She knew that would fetch me. Sullenly, I followed her. She pressed her finger to her lips, cautioning silence. I listened. Someone was inside. I heard a thud, and then, after seconds, another thud.

"Lift me up," she commanded, and I took her under the arms and hoisted her so that she could look through a small, square window. The thuds continued, spaced by 10-second intervals.

"What's that noise?" I asked impatiently, and she was rewarded by a kick from her heels. So I dropped her and hoisted myself up and looked inside. In a moment my eyes accustomed themselves to the change in light and on the table were a dozen large and heavy knives. At intervals she would select one point it and hurl it with might and main at something. The something was a broad board of pine or boards fastened together to make a surface some four feet wide by six feet high. And on this surface was outlined a female figure in what I took to be lights. I was at this figure that Oscar threw at his knives, once after the other, with quivering blades. He never missed. Each knife, as thrown, struck point foremost on the very line outlining the figure. Never had I seen such an exhibition of skill or so sinister an exhibition of steadiness of hand. I lowered myself and faced Lottie. "How did you know?"

Bradley Braves Go Against Irish Tonight

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bradley's Braves, a hot-shooting bunch of basketball bantams, are tough Notre Dame tonight in their first game since they jumped to the No. 2 national ranking with their 91-90 upset of the top-ranked Cincinnati Bearcats.

"We'll be looking up at Notre Dame just as we've looked up to all the others we've played," says Coach Ozzie Orsborn, who claims Bradley's 12-1 record is strictly a matter of "shooting luck" since the Braves average "only" 62.4. That's bantam height in this era of the 7-footer.

The game, the opener of the season's first collegiate doubleheader at Chicago Stadium, is the last for Bradley's Billy Joe Mason, who uses up his collegiate eligibility at the mid-term mark. Mason, an outstanding defensive player and floor man, also clips in with asked. "I didn't only suspected he was up to something. Because every afternoon he comes out here and stays alone in the barn. Butlers don't behave so."

"But what does it mean?" "It means," she said, "that the old vampire is better at other things than being a butler."

We were a little surprised that Madam Janeway refused to go with us to see the medicine show, which continued its stay in Syracuse, because she was always so eager for entertainment and amusement. However, as I said to Lottie, everybody is entitled to a couple of inconsistencies. To which Lottie replied that I would be a great deal more interesting if I would develop a couple myself.

And there was another oddity. Madam would have nothing to do with the canal. It was almost as if she resented it and had some private reason for avoiding even conversation about the great, historic, man-made waterway.

She had never a kind word to say for canawlers, but always referred to them with contempt. Which was unlike her, for she was a tolerant woman with a soft spot in her heart for the lowly and unfortunate.

Canawlers were a part of our everyday life, always with us, living their own peculiar, nomadic lives. They were a tribe unto themselves, with a different set of morals and manners.

When Lottie and I were children we never were admonished to have no dealings with canawlers or to stay away from the ditch and the boats that traveled it. We were not forbidden because it never occurred to our fathers and mothers that a pair of well-brought-up children of our social class ever would so far forget themselves as to go near such people. I would never have done so, but Lottie was a cat of another color. Lottie was an obedient little girl and would very seldom disobey a direct command. But she had her own ideas regarding that area of behavior about which there was no direct order.

"If," she would say, "they don't tell us not to, then we can." (To Be Continued)
